The Policy
Regarding the Use of this Copyrighted Material

The Authors Intention and Purpose.

The authors of Welcome Them Home have written and produced this material pro bono as an act of healing for our men and women returning from war. We recognize the ongoing sacrifices experienced by many and we encourage every citizen to reach out to our veterans and their families in love and understanding.

The authors desire that the material in Welcome Them Home will be seriously studied and widely used by faith based groups across our country. We intend to grant permission for reproduction of materials in the book when used for the purpose of helping veterans and their family members heal from the wounds of war

For Congregational Use in Worship and Education

As a convenience for faith-based organizations we hereby grant permission to reproduce a small portion of this material for use in worship or for other similar educational purposes, as long as the material is not altered and the following reference is affixed to every copy. For such use no further permission is required. We do, however, request notification so that we may network with others interested in this ministry. Please email carlene@wholeperson.com or write to us at the address below if you are using small amounts of material so we can better network with others interested in veterans' ministry.
